This course provides a professional level program in Chinese language and culture studies. It is designed for students entering the Chinese program at the professional level. It also serves as an optional course for those who have completed Advanced Chinese B (ARTS3451). The medium of instruction is Chinese. By studying a wide range of texts that showcase the use and evolution of vernacular Chinese, you will continue to improve your integrated language skills, especially proficiency in reading and writing, as well as develop a sense of the cultural history of Chinese language.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. communicate with a high level of proficiency in Chinese language
2. discuss complex subject matters in both spoken and written Chinese
3. analyse sophisticated texts and identify varying language styles and registers, and apply them in effective communication
4. use analytical and critical thinking skills
5. explain the culture and history of Chinese language

Teaching Strategies

In designing this course, we have taken into account the rich history and cultural, linguistic diversity of the Chinese language, as well as the multiplicity of communication modes brought about by globalisation and technological advances. We believe these factors have a great impact on literate practices. Through studying the wide range of texts, learning their cultural and historical contexts and practicing specially designed language and research exercises in the lectures and tutorials, you will achieve multi-literacy as well as communicative competence. You will develop an understanding of Chinese culture, society and worldviews, in particular the history of Chinese language.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another's ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another's ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person's individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person's academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person's work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (<http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/>). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time

- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
