Summary of the Course

This course explores the dramatic changes to gender and sexuality norms experienced by people living in China or operating in the Sinophone world. The course examines the transformation in these realms from imperial times through to the current era. It shows the ongoing tension between popular ideas about 'tradition' and 'modernity' as gender and sexuality norms and practices have changed over time. It examines interventions by China's various governments and legal systems and campaigns by activists and reformers to change the status quo as well as the use of sex and gender by creative artists, writers and advertisers. You will learn about phenomena such as: progress towards sex equality, tensions between individual desires and family pressure, LGBTI culture and rights, socialist challenges to tradition, Chinese masculinities and femininities in local and global contexts, diversity in gender and sexuality norms among China's non-Han ethnicities and different social classes, current challenges in gender and sexuality norms in relation to phenomenon like family formation, employment, political participation, sporting and cultural expression.

The course draws upon a diverse range of texts - audio-visual, internet, film, literature, official documents, newspapers and magazines, posters, art and performance. It is grounded in current theories of gender and sexuality operating internationally and in China. Proficiency in Chinese language is not required.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. articulate a specific body of knowledge about core aspects of Chinese society as pertaining to evolving gender and sexuality norms
2. explain the varied nature of Sinophone expressions of gender and sexuality across time, between locations, ethnicities and sub-cultures
3. articulate knowledge about the different ways gender and sexuality have been mobilized in different genres of publicly circulating texts
4. examine and comprehend the core differences between China's changing gender and sexuality norms in the international and cross-cultural context
5. demonstrate an understanding of key theories for understanding gender and sexuality as operating in current academic discourse

Teaching Strategies

This course is lecture and seminar based, and it is interdisciplinary in nature. It will be taught in multimedia mode, with diverse genres of materials used and analysed. In addition to up-to-date readings in relevant fields, lecturers and tutors adopt a research-led teaching approach that engages students in active research projects. This course emphasises class participation and discussion; it encourages student input and participation and encourages students to think critically.

Assessment

Detailed instructions for each assessment task will be uploaded to Moodle. Refer to assessment brief.

Assessment Tasks

Assessment task	Weight	Due Date	Student Learning Outcomes Assessed
Presentation + Transcript	30%	4pm on presentation day	1,2,3,4,5
Personal Interpretation	20%	4pm Tuesday in Week 7	1,2,3,4,5
Writing task	50%	4pm Friday in week 10	1,2,3,4,5

Assessment Details

Assessment 1: Presentation + Transcript

Start date: Week 2

Details:

Students will present their understanding about a self-selected case related to the week's discussion topic. They will be asked to prompt discussion for their peers. The feedback will be provided via a Rubric for Presentations currently in use in Asian Studies courses.

Length: 5 to 10 minutes

Oral feedback

Submission notes: You can edit your presentation and the transcript in PPT and save it as a PDF file for final submission.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Assessment 2: Personal Interpretation

Start date: Not Applicable

Details:

Students will submit a personalized assessment to showcase their understanding about gender in China. This assessment can be in the form of short essay, video, documentary, poster, podcast, ethnographic interview, website or any other formats. Students shall discuss their proposals with the lecturer and obtain permission before submitting the assessment.

Oral feedback.

Submission notes: Please contact the teaching staff if you are unable to submit the chosen format to the assignment box in Moodle

Turnitin setting: This is not a Turnitin assignment

Assessment 3: Writing task

Start date: Not Applicable

Details:

Students will have two options for the task. Option 1 is a ca. 2,400-word research essay. Students will be asked to select a research question from a nominated list. Their task is to gather research materials, construct a clear and logical argument around the research question, buttress this argument with evidence and communicate in a clear written fashion. The evidence will be presented in formal academic notation and documentation. Option 2 is a critical reflection of the course. This task is equivalent to the research essay in terms of word length. Students will write eight 300-word critical reflections by the end of the term to demonstrate their understanding about the weekly topic and readings. The writing task is the final assessment for attendance purposes.

Written feedback.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Attendance Requirements

Students are strongly encouraged to attend all classes and review lecture recordings.

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au . Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course's Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another's ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another's ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person's individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person's academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person's work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (<http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/>). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time

- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
