Summary of the Course

The study of empire is critical in understanding the post-colonial present, the re-emergence of empire, persisting problems of Indigenous rights and to contemporary understandings of human rights more generally. This course will provide a critical examination of European colonial ideologies and practices. It will also focus on the imperial experiences of colonized peoples, looking at ways in which they engaged with empire across places and time.

Empires in World History will offer you the opportunity to understand what imperialism was about, how it changed the face of the world and its impact on the present. The course will familiarize you with key concepts, texts and methodologies for the study of comparative imperialism as well as early-modern and modern history. Those who successfully complete this course will strengthen their analytical and research skills as well as their historical knowledge.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Analyse key events, ideas, people and trends in imperial history
2. Read long-term patterns in colonialism and imperial history and understand their significance
3. Engage with critical debates on imperialism and its legacies
4. Analyse and interpret documents
5. Conduct independent scholarly enquiry

Teaching Strategies

The course is designed to encourage you to engage critically with past and current debates about European imperialism and its impact on colonised and colonising societies. It will also introduce you to recent research on human rights and the rights of Indigenous peoples. Each week a specific issue will be the focus of the readings, the lecture and the seminar discussion.

The readings, all based on scholarly literature, provide contextual information. The one-hour lecture presents European visions of empire by exploring the key ideas, ideologies and systems that supported empire-building and management. In the 2nd and 3rd hours, we will focus on the voices of empire by studying documents produced by those who lived in those empires (colonised peoples, officials, settlers). We aim to understand how imperial subjects experienced empire, in other words, how they engage with its ideologies, structures and policies. Our perspective (the imperial subjects' point of view) allows a more complex understanding of imperialism and its effects on subject peoples.

Assessment

All assessments are compulsory.

You must write the topic of the essay on the first page. Use an easy font to read (e.g. Verdana 10, Arial 10, Times New Roman 12) and double-space your paragraphs.

Assignments must be fully referenced. We use footnotes, not endnotes. The system used in this course is the Chicago style: see http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide/citation-guide-1.html

The footnotes and bibliography are never included in the word count.

Assessment Tasks

Assessment Details

Assessment 1: Fieldwork project

Length: 1500 words (footnotes and bibliography not included)

Details:

Students will submit an individual fieldwork portfolio (1500 words) and give a group presentation (10 mins). Each component (portfolio and presentation) carries the same weight.

Feedback via individual comment and class discussion.

Additional details:

Fieldwork Project on Vestiges of European Colonialism in Sydney.

Questions to Consider for the Fieldwork Project:

1. Present the monument: what is it ? When was it built ? Where is it situated ?
2. Present the historical context in which it was erected
3. Present its political significance at the time it was constructed
4. Consider its political or symbolic significance nowadays

As the course is taught online, I am making a few changes to this assessment to make it easier for students. Students can complete this assessment individually or in pairs. Each student has to submit an individual and personal portfolio (even if you have worked in pair) on July 1 as well as 4 PowerPoint slides (these can be collective if you have worked in pair) which would be presented to the class on the following day during the tutorial. The slides would present the monument chosen and summarize your findings.

Your overall mark for this assessment is split between the individual/personal portfolio (50%) and the PowerPoint slides combined with the class presentation (50%).

Submission notes: Individual portfolios have to be submitted as Word documents through Turnitin. The PowerPoint slides have to be emailed to me.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Assessment 2: Research essay

Length: Essay plan and bibliography: 900 words max; Research essay: 2500 words (footnotes and bibliography not included)

Details:

Independent research essay. 2500 words. Feedback via individual comments.

Additional details:

This assessment includes two assignments:

1. an essay plan (900 words or more) and bibliography (at least 5 references (academic books and journal articles) and 7 primary sources). Use dot points throughout the essay plan. Mention the examples you are going to discuss to support your thesis.

If you are unsure about what needs to be included in an essay plan, refer to <https://student.unsw.edu.au/construct-essay-plan>

2. the full essay: 2500 words (footnotes and bibliography not included in the word count).

You must use at least 7 primary sources (“use” means exploit/analyze/discuss, not just cite or quote from). For every missing source out of the 7 required, a penalty of 5% applies.

You can use the material provided in the course (lectures and tutorial discussions).

Feedback via individual comments.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Assessment 3: Class test

Start date: Not Applicable

Length: 100 minutes

Details:

In-class test: long answer questions. Students receive a numerical mark and consult the lecturer for further feedback.

Additional details:

The in-class test is replaced with an online test that will be held during the last tutorial and which you will submit through Turnitin.

Length: 100 minutes.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students do not see Turnitin similarity reports.

Attendance Requirements

Attendance of Tutorials is mandatory in this course. Unexcused absence from more than 20% of Tutorials will result in the award a fail grade.

Each tutorial includes work-related learning activities such as student-led primary sources analysis which are critical to the course learning outcomes.

Finally, there are two assessments scheduled during tutorial: a marked presentation in week 5 and a class test in week 10.

You should buy Heather Streets-Salter and Trevor R. Getz, Empires and Colonies in the Modern World: A Global Perspective (New York: Oxford University Press, 2016). This book is available at the UNSW Bookstore. There are also a couple of copies in the HUC at the library. Unfortunately there is no e-copy available.

I also recommend Jane Burbank and Frederick Cooper, Empires in World History: Power and the Politics of Difference (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 2011); and Krishan Kumar, Empires: A Historical and Political Sociology (Cambridge: Polity Press, 2021).

Additional readings on weekly topics can be found on the Moodle course page.

Course Evaluation and Development

Student feedback will be gathered via MyExperience at the end of the course and through a brief in-class evaluation during the trimester.

Please drop me a line if you experience any problem with the course (regarding the content, delivery, assessments, etc). I will do my best to address your concerns.

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au . Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course's Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another's ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another's ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person's individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person's academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person's work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (<http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/>). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time

- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
