Summary of the Course

Subject Area: History

In this capstone course you will join all the other students majoring in History in a weekly seminar designed to perfect and reflect on the skills you have learned in your history degree. You will discuss and critique some of the most influential historical methodologies of our time. You will conduct a research project exploring the public and political role of history. And you will conduct your own major research project: framing a question about the past that can be addressed by reconstructing past events from primary sources, while engaging with recent scholarship in your interpretation of these events.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. evaluate major theories and methodologies within the discipline of history
2. demonstrate a critical understanding of the political implications of historical writing
3. identify multiple practices of history and evaluate them in light of professional standards of scholarship and ethical behaviour
4. conduct an independent research project

Teaching Strategies

As this is a seminar course, the core teaching strategy is to facilitate discussion and group reflection, and to assist you with your research assignments. The seminar format obliges everyone to take on an active intellectual role in analysing and critiquing the course readings, which are mainly historiographic, collaboratively in small groups.

This course is designed to make you, as a History major, aware of a range of important approaches to writing history, and also historians' role in influencing the present. The major assessment is a research essay where the past is reconstructed based on primary sources, where you apply what you have learned in class and learn by doing the fundamental work of the historian.

Assessment

All assessments are compulsory.

You must write the topic of the essay on the first page. Use an easy font to read (e.g. Verdana 10, Arial 10, Times New Roman 12) and double-space your paragraphs.

Assignments must be fully referenced. We use footnotes, not endnotes. The system used in this course is the Chicago style: see http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide/citation-guide-1.html

The footnotes and bibliography are never included in the word count.

Assessment task	Weight	Due Date	Course Learning Outcomes Assessed
1. Discussion questions	20%	Week 1, Week 2, Week 3, Week 4, Week 5, Week 7, Week 8, Week 9, Week 10	1, 2, 3
2. Research essay proposal and annotated bibliography	20%	03/07/2022 11:00 PM	1, 2, 4
3. Research Essay	60%	31/07/2022 11:00 PM	1, 2, 4

Assessment 1: Discussion questions

Start date: every week, by Thursday 11 pm

Due date: Week 1, Week 2, Week 3, Week 4, Week 5, Week 7, Week 8, Week 9, Week 10

Students will submit one question per week (i.e. 9 questions) of up to 30 words each. Questions have to be submitted prior to seminars.

Feedback via a rubric.

This is not a Turnitin assignment

Additional details

Each week, beginning in week, you are required to submit a contribution, based on the readings, which we will discuss in class. If you do not contribute to the class discussion, a penalty of five points will be applied to your mark for that weekly submission.

For Week 1, you will have to submit your favourite quote about history and historians before 2 June, 11pm. In Friday's class, you will be asked to explain why you chose that quote.

For Week 2 to 5: you will submit a response to one of the set questions (submission by Thursday, 11pm).

For Week 7 to 10: you will submit a question focused on the major points or issues raised in the readings. You will submit the answer to this question as well. Both questions and answers must be submitted by Thursday, 11 pm.

You have to make 9 submissions in total, prior to Friday class, by email to s.belmessous@unsw.edu.au

Feedback via the rubric below:

Contributions

	Description	Points assigned
Provocative	Submission goes beyond the readings' arguments and tries to stimulate the discussion by pushing the analysis further	20
Substantial	Submission highlights correctly the theoretical/analytical issues raised in the readings but does not push the discussion further	15
Superficial	Submission shows good awareness of the readings but lacks depth of knowledge or analysis	10
Incorrect	Submission shows lack of understanding of the readings, and/or is inconsistent	5
None	No submission posted within the timeframe	0

Assessment 2: Research essay proposal and annotated bibliography

Assessment length: 1200 words

Due date: 03/07/2022 11:00 PM

The proposal should be around 1,200 words.

Numerical mark and Individual written feedback.

This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Additional details

Requirements for the Research Essay will be discussed in the Week 1 Seminar. There will be a set topic. Anyone wishing to do their research essay on a topic of their own choosing must submit a proposal and bibliography by Week 4, AND MUST RECEIVE WRITTEN APPROVAL TO PROCEED (based on feasibility and coherence) or else they must write on the standard set topic. Research Essay topic proposals submitted early will be evaluated in the order received, potentially allowing revision and resubmission.

You must contact me well in advance to present your project and make sure that it satisfies the assignment requirements.

Any essay topic not discussed with me before the deadline will automatically receive no higher than a Fail.

Assessment 3: Research Essay

Assessment length: 2500 words

Due date: 31/07/2022 11:00 PM

A 3000-word research essay.

Numerical mark and comments.

This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Additional details

Requirements for the Research Essay will be discussed in the Week 1 Seminar, with additional information posted on Moodle. There will be a set topic. Anyone wishing to do their research essay on a topic of their own choosing must submit a proposal and bibliography by Week 4, AND MUST RECEIVE WRITTEN APPROVAL TO PROCEED (based on feasibility and coherence) or else they must write on the standard set topic. Research Essay topic proposals submitted early will be evaluated in the order received, potentially allowing revision and resubmission.

You must contact me well in advance to present your project and make sure that it satisfies the assignment requirements.

Any essay topic not discussed with me before the deadline will automatically receive no higher than a Fail.

Attendance Requirements

Attendance is mandatory. Why? Because this seminar is based on your overall contribution. Each week you are required to complete an assignment that will be used to inform the discussion in class and will be part of a group activity. You will be asked to present your submission and contribute to the discussion.

Timetable

Date	Type	Content
Week 1: 30 May - 3 June	Seminar	Introduction: What is history, and what is historiography? Tuesday class: the first meeting will involve housekeeping matters, including an explanation of the major assessments and the dates due. More importantly, we will come to be a practical and theoretical understanding of what historians do and what the different ways they do it -- collectively, 'historiography' -- are. Friday class: discussion posts on "What is your favourite quote about history or historians?"
	Assessment	Discussion questions
Week 2: 6 June - 10 June	Seminar	Professional history and public memory Professional historians are often treated by the public as ivory tower intellectuals who labour away on trivial topics in the deserved obscurity of dusty archives. Yet the public -- even these same critics -- harbour historical beliefs that are important to them and which they expect to be supported by historians and historical evidence. Frequently these cherished historical narratives conflict with what professional historians take (sometimes uncontroversially) as established facts. These conflicting understandings of the past occasionally come into the open, especially when stories foundational to cultural or national identity are updated according to professional standards in public fora, such as school curricula or museum exhibits. They raise questions about the historian's social role and duties. We will discuss the roles historians play in public in this seminar, focusing on the controversy over the so-called History Wars.

	Homework	Course readings in Leganto
	Assessment	Discussion questions
Week 3: 13 June - 17 June	Seminar	Historical scholarship and advocacy Are historians subject to ethical standards beyond what is required for the publication of their work in peer-reviewed journals (e.g. truthful and complete reporting of primary evidence sources, logical argumentation, citation of influential or otherwise important secondary sources)? For example, should they publicly discuss issues only within their domain of scholarly expertise? Must they consider the social impact of their scholarly work in publishing on certain questions and/or using certain sources? Once it is published, do they bear any other responsibilities in describing it in public venues such as the courtroom?
	Assessment	Discussion questions
Week 4: 20 June - 24 June	Seminar	The Social Turn <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Marxism • History from below • Social history It is often said that "history is written by the winners". So, how do we approach history from the perspective of those who were disempowered and disenfranchised? How can we understand the lives of the subalterns of the past, even though they typically left no written records of their own?
	Workshop	Presentation of your research proposal: topic, argument, bibliography. Feedback to be provided by the class.
	Assessment	Discussion questions

Week 5: 27 June - 1 July	Seminar	The Cultural Turn <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Postmodernism and post-structuralism • From Women's history to Gender History • Postcolonial history Historians have used gender and sex as a means of examining the assumptions that marginalise, subordinate, or render invisible the experiences of individuals or groups in historiography. Beginning with the American historian Joan W. Scott's suggestion that historians must not merely add women to history and 'stir', we will consider the evolution of gender history in the 20th century and its implications for us as historians in the present.
	Assessment	Research Essay plan and bibliography due July 3
	Assessment	Discussion questions
Week 6: 4 July - 8 July	Reading
Week 7: 11 July - 15 July	Seminar	Big history and little history: Scale and the study of the past Is there any value in studying history at the local level? At the national, transnational, or even global level? Is there any value in studying history in the long rather than the short term?
	Assessment	Discussion questions
Week 8: 18 July - 22 July	Seminar	Environmental history Can we narrate a history that is not centred on human action, or not even about people at all? When does this simply become the domain of biology, geology, or another natural science with entirely different methods and aims from history? Although fuzzy as to disciplinary identity at its edges, a thriving field of environmental history has recently emerged to bring the more-than-human as an actor into our stories about the human past, in order to help us grapple with our increasingly important 'environmental' problems.

	Assessment	Discussion questions
Week 9: 25 July - 29 July	Seminar	Decolonising history History, in common with most humanities disciplines, is the subject of ongoing public and academic debate about the need to decolonise curricula and research practices. This week, we will examine the principles of decolonization, explore what the movement hopes to achieve, and with the help of recent scholarship, discuss the possibilities and future of decolonised history.
	Assessment	Discussion questions
Week 10: 1 August - 5 August	Seminar	The Historian's Craft in the 21st century <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Doing history in the digital age • Presentation of your research project

Resources

Prescribed Resources

Textbook: Stefan Berger, Heiko Feldner, and Kevin Passmore, Writing History Theory and Practice (3e edition, Bloomsbury, 2020).

All required and recommended readings for each seminar will be posted to Leganto. If there are any problems accessing the reading, alert me by email immediately and I will either rectify Leganto or post a pdf in Moodle.

Course Evaluation and Development

Courses are periodically reviewed, and students' feedback is used to improve them. Feedback is gathered from students using myExperience. It is encouraged students complete their surveys by accessing the personalized web link via the Moodle course site.

Following formal and informal student feedback last year, I have adapted the assessments and changed several readings.

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au . Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course's Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: Using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This includes copying materials, ideas or concepts from a book, article, report or other written document, presentation, composition, artwork, design, drawing, circuitry, computer program or software, website, internet, other electronic resource, or another person's assignment without appropriate acknowledgement.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original information, structure and/or progression of ideas of the original without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another's ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: Working with others but passing off the work as a person's individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student for the purpose of them plagiarising, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person's academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person's work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): Submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices

The UNSW Academic Skills support offers resources and individual consultations. Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study. One of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study. Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library
