

Georgina has over 40 years' experience leading environmental policy, regulation, and management across government, with a focus on climate, natural resources, and conservation.

Georgina was the Executive Director of Science, Economics and Insights at NSW DCCEEW, and in 2024 transitioned to board and advisory roles. In 2025, she was appointed Chair of the NSW Research Scientist Classification Committee and was prequalified by NSW Treasury as a member of government Audit and Risk Committees. In 2026 she was appointed by the Minister to the Greater Sydney board of Local Land Services; and reappointed for a third term to the Australian Museum Scientific Advisory Board. She holds a PhD, BSc (Hons), a Graduate Diploma in Public Sector Management, is a GAICD member, and an Adjunct Associate Professor at UNSW.
