SUMMARY OF COURSE

This course examines the syllabus, curriculum planning, assessment strategies, classroom management and development/selection of activities and resources relevant to the teaching of human society and its environment in the primary school classroom. Students will engage in evaluation and selection/development/evaluation of activities and resources relevant to the teaching of key concepts in human society and its environment, in particular Stages ES1-3 of the History K-10 (2012) and Geography K-10 (2015) Syllabuses (NESA), in the primary (K-6) classroom:

Change and Continuity: personal, family, local, community and colonial history

Cultures: diverse Australian cultures, including those of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people

Environments: natural and human features of places on local and global scales; change and sustainability

Social Systems and Structures: roles, rights, and responsibilities of people within societies and development of Australian society and democracy (including economy, education, and the arts).

AIMS OF THE COURSE

The aim of the course is to develop knowledge, understandings, skills, values, and attitudes relevant to teaching human society and its environment in general and the syllabus. We will look at patterns of human interaction across different times at local, national, regional, and global levels. Prospective teachers will be encouraged to think about connections between environments, change, continuity, culture, identity, resources, and power over time. They will think critically about the roles and responsibilities of citizenship in a multicultural society and how to develop values of fairness and equity in their future students.

THE MAIN WAYS IN WHICH THE COURSE HAS CHANGED SINCE LAST TIME AS A RESULT OF STUDENT FEEDBACK:

- Increase in course duration
- Addition of three tutorials

4. RATIONALE FOR THE INCLUSION OF CONTENT AND TEACHING APPROACH

The course structure allows students to explore and understand the content and organisation of the NSW K- 6 History and Geography K-6 syllabuses. Students will develop and demonstrate the skills they need to plan programs, lessons, and activities suitable for different learning styles and stages of learning.

5. TEACHING STRATEGIES

The course will run as an intensive 6-week program of study including lectures, practical hands-on tasks, structured and collaborative discussions, and on-line activities.

6. COURSE CONTENT AND STRUCTURE

This unit of study involves a 6-week program. This is an indicative topic schedule/reading plan. Refer to Moodle for the most current schedule and readings. Throughout the course, the content may change to be adapted to the students' learning needs and interests.

Submission of assessments

Students are required to follow their lecturer's instructions when submitting their work for assessment. All assessment will be submitted online via Moodle by 5pm. Students are also required to keep all drafts, original data and other evidence of the authenticity of the work for at least one year after examination. If an assessment is mislaid the student is responsible for providing a further copy. Please see the Student Policies and Procedures for information regarding submission, extensions, special consideration, late penalties, and hurdle requirements etc. <https://education.arts.unsw.edu.au/students/courses/course-outlines/>

Assessment Details

Assessment 1: Your community as a resource for teaching and learning (40%)

Learn about the history of 4 locations, persons, and/or institutions and connect what you learn to concepts from the syllabus. Submit a 2000-word critical synthesis that draws together the four reflections along with the appropriate literature.

See Moodle for a template and details.

Assessment 2: Lesson sequence - Planning to teach Geography in context (60%)

Choose a geography focus based on a geographical place where there are obvious impacts of the role of people and cultures, such as those seen in the teaching series. Your choice of geographical scale is important; you can select from a local, national, or global scale for your site choice. For example, if you choose a local scale, a site impacted by the 2019 Bushfires would be suitable.

See Moodle for a template and details.
