Summary of the Course

Subject Area: Social Work

This course emphasises on family, childhood, child wellbeing, children's developmental needs, children's rights, child maltreatment and ecological contexts. The course will examine professional practice in early intervention and family support, child protection, and protective care interventions for children at risk, including out of home care, permanency and adoption. Skills in assessment and case management will be addressed.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of current theory, research and entry level skills relevant to family and child welfare practice.
2. Demonstrate comprehension of the theories of the etiology of various forms of maltreatment, and research on their prevalence, developmental sequelae and risk and protective factors.
3. Analyze the consequences of oppression and discrimination on the lives of children and families and the effects of their history within the child welfare system, and apply empowerment principles in their practice.
4. Demonstrate entry level skills in assessment and case management in protective care situations of families and children.
5. Comprehend, analyze and evaluate approaches to delivering family based, in home services that enhance the functioning of families and well being of children.
6. Comprehend, and evaluate the legal, social and psychological ramifications of protective services, foster care, adoption and permanency planning on children at risk and empirical evidence on their outcomes.

Teaching Strategies

A weekly one-hour lecture covers the theory aspects of the course. A weekly two hour seminar provides an opportunity for students to apply the theory to practice situations and develop skills through use of role plays, case analysis and student presentations. Three Intensive workshops combining the lecture and tutorial will be scheduled during the term.

You may draw on the specified readings from your Course Reader based on presentation and assignment topics chosen and as a follow up on lecture topics of interest

Seminar Topics and Requirements

	Seminar topics
	Week 4
	Mandatory reporting, definitions of maltreatment, dealing with disclosure
A	Should current reporting laws regarding physical and sexual abuse of children be sharply limited to discourage over-reporting. Yes / No (2 students) Cite theoretical and empirical evidence for and against this view.
B	Should the use of corporal punishment by parents be considered child abuse? Yes / No (2 students)

	Cite theoretical and empirical evidence for and against the above view.
C	Highlight some important interventions to facilitate a child's/ adolescent's disclosure of sexual abuse and minimize the trauma for the child/adolescent and caregiver. (2 students)
Week 5
Reasonable efforts to preserve families
D	Is poverty a key contributor to maltreatment? Yes/ No (2 students) Cite theoretical and empirical evidence for and against the above view.
E	Do services to support and preserve the family place children at unnecessary risk? Yes / No (2 students) Cite theoretical and empirical evidence for and against the above view.
F	Critically evaluate two models of family based early intervention services designed to prevent abuse and neglect and children's entry into care. Discuss their relationship to child protection. What do you consider to be important directions in policy and practice in this area in Australia? Cite theory and research to substantiate your answer. (2 students)
Week 9
Practice with children, birth parents and foster carers
G	Whatever the reasons underlying a child's entry to care, the child is likely to experience it, at least in part, as rejection. However abusive, neglectful or inadequate parents may have been they are people with whom the child has formed emotional attachments and separation is experienced as loss. Discuss social work practice with children at the time of entry to care focusing on the child's feeling and experience. (2 students)

H I J	The issue of contact between children in care and their birth parents highlights the need for active social work practice with all participants of the triangle of foster home care – foster children, foster parents and birth parents. Review the research and identify critical issues and strategies for policy and practice. (2 students) Social work practice with foster parents/carers involves a professional relationship requiring flexibility concerning roles and expectations. Should foster parents be viewed as clients, colleagues or contractors? What implications would these different conceptualizations of the foster parent/carer role have for child welfare practice? (2 students) Identify some of the needs and problems facing children and young people as they leave long term substitute care. What are the tasks and issues social workers confront in assisting kids to transition from care to independent living? (2 students)
K L	Week 10 Planning for permanency What do you understand by the concepts of ‘permanency planning’ and ‘concurrent planning’ in out of home care? Outline their features and identify some of their inherent advantages and constraints in using this framework for decision making. (2 students) Should adoption records be opened and should open adoption be practiced? Yes/No? (2 students)

The seminars are an integral part of the learning in this course. They provide opportunity for small group discussion and examination of issues raised in lectures. The seminars form an important part of your assessment. Each student is required to prepare one seminar presentation which should take 15 minutes and should be accompanied by a handout comprising a summary of the issues. Copies of this handout should be available to the rest of the tutorial group. As part of the presentation you are required to present analytically your research on the topic, focus on relevant practice skills/issues, incorporate a practice exercise or role play. No written essay is required for this presentation apart from brief notes (2 pages) distributed to the tutor and the class at the time of the presentation by each presenter.

Criteria for Assessment of Seminar Presentations

- Evidence of theoretical/empirical content relevant to the question
- Synthesis of a range of viewpoints
- Application to practice
- Critical evaluation of the material and practice issues
- Ability to communicate ideas clearly
- Ability to effectively stimulate group discussion and respond to feedback
- Originality and creativity
- Organisation and structure of the presentation and time management
- Practice activity
- Written summary with references

Total length: No written essay is required for this presentation apart from written summary with references

(2 pages) distributed to the tutor and the class at the time of the presentation.

Due in: Various weeks

Worth: 30%

Assessment 2: Minor essay

Start date: Not Applicable

Length: 1000

Details: Students submit a 1,000 word essay on theories of maltreatment. Students receive written feedback and a numerical grade within three weeks of submission.

Resources

Prescribed Resources

- A two volume customised study kit is available in the UNSW bookshop.

Recommended Resources

In addition to the 2 volume study kit prescribed for this course you will find valuable and relevant material in the following journals held in the UNSW library:

- Child Welfare
- Child and Family Social Work
- Children and Youth Services Review
- British Journal of Social Work
- Child Abuse and Neglect
- Children Australia
- Adoption and Fostering, BAAF
- Children and Society
- Developing Practice

Additional Recommended Resource

Bennett,B.& Green,S (2019) Our Voices: Aboriginal Social Work. Red Globe Press UK.

Course Evaluation and Development

Student evaluative feedback is gathered periodically using, among other means, UNSW's MyExperience process. Informal feedback and class-generated feedback are also important. Student feedback is taken seriously, and continual improvements are made to the course based in part on such feedback.

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au . Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course's Moodle site with alternative submission details.

For information on how to submit assignments online via Moodle: <https://student.unsw.edu.au/how-submit-assignment-moodle>

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another's ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another's ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person's individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person's academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person's work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (<http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/>). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time

- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
