

AJM checklist for submitting authors

Dear Authors,

Thank you for considering the Australian Journal of Management.

Please review and comply with each of the following points to ensure that your paper is an appropriate form to be submitted to the Australian Journal of Management.

- Is your paper compatible with the journal's scope and aims? (Please refer to the journal homepage).
- Is the manuscript original work only, and not currently under consideration by another journal?
- Have you consulted and adopted the Sage UK Style Guide? (This is available on the journal homepage).
- Have all listed authors met the AJM's authorship requirements and consented to submission of the current manuscript?
- Does your paper conform to the following:
 - Strong theoretical contribution
 - Policy-relevant insights with clear recommendations
 - Clear and substantive managerial relevance
 - Clear and substantive societal relevance
 - Credible research design and traceable empirical work (qualitative and/or quantitative)
 - Transparency and methodological rigour and integrity
 - Originality
 - Clear writing that communicates with broad audiences

- Are all author names, institutional affiliations and email addresses complete and accurate, and do they exactly match the information entered in Sage Track (ScholarOne)? Authors are required to use their institutional email address only for submissions.
- Have you uploaded a separate title page containing all author names, institutional affiliations and corresponding author contact details, and ensured the submitting author's ORCID is connected in Sage Track? The title page must include a clear title reflecting the work, abstract (max 250 words) and 7 key words.
- Have you uploaded a fully anonymised manuscript, with no author names, affiliations, identifying acknowledgements, author details in headers or footers, or author names in the file name?
- Is your paper no longer than 8,000 words (excluding references and tables)?
- Are the manuscript files in an accepted format (Word preferred; LaTeX where applicable)?

- Are all the sections and sub-sections of your paper numbered sequentially and appropriately titled?
- Have you acknowledged your sources using the SAGE Harvard system of referencing? (Details are available on the journal homepage.)
- Have you disclosed any use of generative AI or AI-assisted tools where required under the current Sage policy, noting that AI tools cannot be listed as authors?
- Are all tables and figures numbered and clearly labelled, with captions provided consistently and in accordance with the current Sage author guidelines?
- Are all tables and figures necessary and conveyed as concisely as possible?
- Are the contents of your tables aligned?
- Are all tables and figures of a high-quality resolution and legible, especially when reproduced in black and white?
- Are equations clear and legible?
- Have you provided a separate acknowledgment of funding?
- Have you uploaded any relevant supplementary materials, datasets or reporting checklists separately where applicable?
- Have you obtained permission to reproduce any third-party figures, tables, illustrations, lengthy quotations or other copyrighted material?
- Have you checked grammar?
- Is your paper likely to be of interest to readers in the Australasian region? Does your paper engage in a regional as well as an international conversation?
