

UNSW LLB Law Exchange Information

Guidelines

When researching your exchange preferences, it is important to find sufficient courses at each university. You may wish to refer to our historic approved courses database to start your research. You are not limited to this list and we encourage you to do your own research. Please note this is for courses that have been approved by UNSW Faculty only. It does not depict actual enrolment at the partner university.

Eligibility

Dual Law degree students who wish to undertake a law exchange need to have completed 60 units of law core courses including Equity and Trusts (LAWS2385) prior to going on exchange. Students are limited to taking law elective courses only while on exchange. Dual law degree students usually go on exchange in their fourth or fifth year.

Pre-requisite for LLB exchange = 60 UOC including LAWS2385

Course Approval and Enrolment

You should consult extensively with UNSW Law regarding the requirements of your program. It is also possible to meet with the Associate Dean (International) to discuss your exchange destinations. All students are required to complete a full-time load at the partner university and must submit their proposed courses for approval through Endeavour before departure. Course matching resources are available on the Student Exchange Moodle tutorial.

You should not submit exchange courses for approval if you have completed similar or the equivalent law courses at UNSW as UNSW Law does not permit any overlapping and credit will not be granted. In addition, Law exchange students are only permitted to enrol in approved law courses offered as part of a law program and taught by a recognised Law School. While away, any variations to course enrolment must be approved by Endeavour.

Splitting Law and non-Law exchange

A combination of Law and non-Law enrolment while on exchange is possible, however please note the following:

1. You are still required to meet the above eligibility requirements for Law exchange;

2. You should discuss your proposed exchange with both UNSW Law & Justice and the UNSW Faculty that administers your other degree if you have any questions or concerns regarding staying on track for your degree;
3. There may be restrictions at the partner university:
 - a. A combination of Law and non-Law exchange is not possible at exchange partners in Canada and the USA
 - b. You should discuss your exchange preferences for Asia, mainland Europe, UK, Ireland, New Zealand and Israel with the relevant UNSW Exchange Advisor as not all Law partners in these regions allow enrolment in non-Law courses
4. Course approval is up to each UNSW Faculty.

Recording exchange results

You will receive credit on your transcript noting an exchange program "LAWS equivalent to 24 UOC" for example. No marks are transferred so your exchange courses won't contribute to your WAM. If you fail a course according to the partner grading system, or complete an unapproved course, no credit will be transferred. You will receive a transcript from the host university which can be used to impress future employers!

UNSW 3+

There are several options for the term/s you will be away under UNSW 3+ depending on the overseas university academic calendar. For example, to transfer 24UOC students can study over one term (T1: Jan-May or T3: Sep-Jan) or two terms (T1 & T2: Jan-Aug or T2 & T3: Aug-Jan), depending on the overseas partner calendar. There are also options for one-year exchange on a case-by-case basis. More information is available on the Student Exchange Moodle tutorial (log in required) and on the host university website.

A full-time semester load at the partner institution is generally equivalent to 24 UOC at UNSW. Under UNSW 3+ students can transfer a minimum of 18 UOC and maximum of 24UOC for one exchange session (one or two terms) and must enrol in a full-time load. Students who go for two terms are required to transfer 24UOC. Students on exchange for one year can transfer back a maximum of 48 UOC. Students who believe the full-time load is higher than this can put forward a case to be considered by the Law Student Centre.

Law Exchange Information Session

Exchange holds a Law information session each application round for students. Details will be posted at Exchange website and on the Law International Exchange website.
