Summary of the Course

This course provides intermediate level tuition in Korean language study from a communicative and task-based approach. You will enhance your communicative skills in Korean with an increasing emphasis on literacy skills. The course consolidates knowledge of, and offers insights into, how the Korean language works. Vocabulary and grammatical structures are presented in the context of culturally relevant topics. The topics covered in the course include requesting and offering, future plans, jobs and professions, learning a foreign language, describing sequences, following and giving directions, food and cooking and the world of nature.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Communicate in Korean, verbally and in writing, on topics covered in the course, including jobs and professions, learning a foreign language, food and cooking, and the world of nature
2. Perform key functions in Korean, including requesting, offering, apologising, complaining, describing sequences of events, giving and following directions, and reporting what other people have said
3. Use appropriately geulmal, the set of verb endings that constitute an important part of the written language in Korean
4. Explain the main characteristics of and use appropriately banmal, the language for communicating at a more intimate and informal level
5. Explain aspects of contemporary Korean society and culture, including favourite jobs and professions in Korea, traditional games, cooking and the natural environment in Korea

Teaching Strategies

Rationale:

Korean Studies at UNSW provides students with the opportunity to develop a balance of competent Korean language skills and in-depth knowledge and understanding about Korea.

ARTS2660 is the third of the series of courses that aim at advancing the student to a fluent command of the Korean language, spoken and written. The Course pays special attention to ways in which the student finds learning Korean rewarding and challenging.

Its content is designed to help the student to feel their Korean expand as the time goes by. In particular, it is designed to help them enable to perform with confidence various functions such as apologising, complaining, seeking information and assistance, describing sequences of events and explaining how they came about, talking about future plans, and reporting what other people have said, express themselves on topics such as the world of nature, proverbs, jobs and professions, food and cooking, and learning a foreign language, deal with more complex contexts of language use such as intimate varieties and literary styles.

The course assumes that students will have limited opportunities to talk with native speakers (though not as limited as many would suggest) but on the other hand have a need to prepare a ‘dossier’ of material about topics of interests in order to converse meaningfully and fluently with native speakers when the occasion presents itself.

As has been in ARTS1660 and ARTS1661, classroom activities are framed to take full advantage of the interactive and cumulative dimension of the learning of Korean at UNSW. It is important that students themselves be aware of the learning objectives week by week and class by class, that they be able to relate readily what they are learning now to what they previously learnt, and that they be prepared to actively use Korean wherever it is appropriate.

Teaching Strategies:

Each of the Units in the textbook will be studied in two stages. Lectures, i.e., larger classes, start with explanations on language patterns and grammatical details, and end with focusing and shaping exercises. Tutorials, i.e., smaller classes, begin with focusing and shaping exercises, and conclude with purposeful uses of learnt expressions in context.

In addition, the Course promotes ‘incidental’ learning. An important component of the Course in this regard is Presentation. This is not only to expand students’ language resources but also to encourage them to take initiatives in practicing giving a talk for an extended period time (preferably on a topic they are familiar with). The Course also encourages the students to undertake level 1 or 2 Test of Proficiency in Korean. Detailed information on the test and materials for the preparation will be given during the course.

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au. Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course’s Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: Using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This includes copying materials, ideas or concepts from a book, article, report or other written document, presentation, composition, artwork, design, drawing, circuitry, computer program or software, website, internet, other electronic resource, or another person's assignment without appropriate acknowledgement.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original information, structure and/or progression of ideas of the original without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: Working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student for the purpose of them plagiarising, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): Submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices

The UNSW Academic Skills support offers resources and individual consultations. Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study. One of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study. Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library
