Summary of the Course

China offers a rich context for examining the cultures and politics of media and communication. The size and complexity of Chinese politics, economy and society, and China’s role in shaping global media and communication systems make it central for students to understand the place of communication and information technologies, systems, practices and politics in the contemporary world. This course explores contemporary Chinese media and communication from a cultural, political and sociological perspective, paying attention to the contested and evolving developments in new digital forms and formats. This course will enable you to engage critically with a wide range of media and communication practices in China and gain advanced knowledge of Chinese media and of its communication ecosystem from governance/policy and production to circulation and consumption.

This course is taught in English and with readings in English.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Analyse and evaluate relevant scholarly literature in Chinese media and communication studies
2. Make scholarly arguments using independently located and credible evidence
3. Communicate ideas among peers and engage in discussions or debates
4. Engage proactively with complex issues in media-related practice and research
5. Apply learnt theories of media and communication to analysis of various media formats

Teaching Strategies

The course is taught by way of a three-hour lecture and a one-hour tutorial weekly. In lectures, students learn about background information and theoretical and analytical perspectives and debates on the weekly topics. Students will also engage in multiple class activities and group work to deepen their understanding about the lecture content. In tutorials, students will be making at least one formal presentation and proactively respond to tutorial presentations and discussions.

Assessment 1: Presentation plus transcript

Start date: Week 2 Tutorial
Submission notes: Please submit both presentation file and transcript as one file to Turnitin by the due date
Due date: 4pm on presentation day

Students present on the content (both lectures and readings) of their assigned week. This will require you to present and discuss the core arguments from the week’s readings, with additional research. The goals of your presentation are to (1) communicate your interpretation of the week’s main concepts and ideas, and (2) generate discussion among your peers and further understanding of the course content. You should submit the transcript of your presentation for assessment. Feedback via individual comments and rubric.

The presentation is 10 minutes in duration, including 5 minutes of discussion.

This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Additional details

See assessment brief in Moodle

Assessment 2: Media Commentary

Assessment length: 800-1,000 words
Submission notes: Online submission
Due date: Week 5 Friday 4pm

Students are requested to choose a show/report in a particular media format in China (either Chinese or English) and write a commentary on it. Examples can include a particular television show, radio program, newspaper report, advertisement, magazine article, film, website, digital media practice or a book. Students are encouraged to use three academic sources to complete the task. Length: 800-1000 words.

Written feedback will be provided via Turnitin.

This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Additional details
Assessment 3: Research essay

Assessment length: 3,000 words
Submission notes: Online submission
Due date: Week 10 Friday 4pm

Students write an essay (ca. 3,000 words) based on independent research. Feedback via individual comments and rubric. This is the final assessment for attendance purposes.

This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Additional details

See assessment brief in Moodle
Attendance Requirements

Attendance of Lectures and Tutorials is mandatory in this course. This applies to both online and face to face classes. Unexcused absence from more than 20% of Lectures and 20% of Tutorials will result in the award a fail grade.

In lectures and tutorials you will actively engage with core course content, enabling you to attain CLO 1.

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au. Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course’s Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: Using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This includes copying materials, ideas or concepts from a book, article, report or other written document, presentation, composition, artwork, design, drawing, circuitry, computer program or software, website, internet, other electronic resource, or another person’s assignment without appropriate acknowledgement.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original information, structure and/or progression of ideas of the original without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: Working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student for the purpose of them plagiarising, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): Submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices

The UNSW Academic Skills support offers resources and individual consultations. Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study. One of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study. Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library
