Summary of the Course

Subject Area: Music

This course offers students the opportunity to study the history of the relationship between music and film and to gain an understanding of the main historical developments surrounding the use of music in film. The opportunity to analyse various examples of film music, taken from the silent era through to the present day, allows students to enhance their understanding of the role that composers for film played in the use of music as part of the 'sound-track' of a film. There is a particular focus on exploring and investigating the development of music's function in creating, or enhancing, 'meaning' in various genres of film, with specific reference to the most recent research in this area. The course offers a broad range of examples taken from films developed not only in the United States (Hollywood), but also from China, Japan, India, Europe, Britain, and Australia.

At the conclusion of this course the student will be able to

1. identify, classify, and evaluate the various functions of music within a variety of film genres and styles, from a variety of cultures.
2. demonstrate the ability to discuss the use of music in film in a scholarly and informed manner, especially within the context of the academic literature on the topic.
3. demonstrate their knowledge of the history of film music and a variety of films from a variety of genres, many of which students may not have previously encountered or had the opportunity to study in detail.
4. apply the theoretical knowledge discussed throughout the course in a creative manner via the completion of a short film scoring exercise that involves various aspects of film composition.

Teaching Strategies

Students attend a weekly two-hour lecture on film music history and a weekly one-hour tutorial on film music theory. Both lectures and tutorials will consist of audio and audio/visual demonstrations of course content.

The course is concerned with investigating the historical perspectives surrounding the development of music in film, as well as the impact of significant composers and film directors, societal changes, and developments in technology that have occurred during the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. In addition, an examination of how music might create a variety of meanings or interpretations when added to visual images, and its psychological impact on the viewer, will be provided and assessed via the completion of a creative film-scoring exercise. Students are strongly encouraged to apply the modes of listening and viewing demonstrated during the lecture series to their own experiences, and all assessment items are intended to provide an opportunity for critical and analytical discussion surrounding the student's own experiences with music in film.

Assessment Details

Assessment 1: Film Scoring Activity and Analytical Notes

Start date:

Details: The Film Scoring Activity and Analytical Notes will be marked and returned to students at the completion of the course.

Additional details:

• Film-Scoring Activity and Analytical Notes (Essay), 50%

This assessment item is in two parts:

Part 1 - Film-Scoring Activity: You will be asked to provide music to accompany two short scenes taken from a selected film or films. The music provided may consist of either (a) original music composed especially for the scenes; or (b) existing recordings of music that you edit and add to the scenes. Several scenes from a selected film (or films) will be made available to students via Moodle. Each scene will be approximately two (2) to three (3) minutes in duration. Comprehensive instructions on how to complete this aspect of the assignment will be given to students during semester.

Part 2 – Analytical Notes/Essay: You must also complete an analytical essay (ca. 1500 words) that justifies your choice of music in the selected scenes and engages with the current literature on the subject. This is not a matter of merely expressing your personal opinion: you must justify your choice of music for each completed scene by providing evidence of your understanding of these concepts and those discussed in the lectures and tutorials delivered throughout the course. Students should make specific reference to at least some of the literature included on the ‘Suggested Reading List’, and thus provide a context (both historical and social) for the reasons behind your choice of music for each film excerpt.

Instructions for submitting the materials associated with this assignment will be discussed in the lecture series, but the final submission date is 4.00pm on Thursday 18 October (Week 12).

The Film-Scoring Activity and Analytical Essay comprises 50% of total mark for the course.

Assessment 2: Film Music Journal
Start date: Not Applicable

Details: The Journal will be collected and marked and returned to students by Week 6 of semester so that they may assess their progress in the course.

Additional details:

The Film Music Journal comprises a total of 20% of the total mark for this course.

It is based on the completion of two set activities. Each activity is weighted in the following manner:
1) Journal Activity 1 = 8%; due 1.00pm, Thursday 02 August, 2018 (Week 2);
2) Journal Activity 2 = 12%; due 1.00pm, Thursday 16 August, 2018 (Week 4).

Instructions for submission of these items will be given via Moodle and during the lecture series.

Assessment 3: Film Music History Test 1

Start date:

Details: Film Music History Test 1 will be marked and returned to students during semester so they can assess their progress.

Additional details:

• In-Class Test 1, 15%

The test will be based on materials taken from Readings, Lectures, and Tutorials held during Weeks 1 to 6.
The test will be conducted in the Tutorial time at 3pm on 06 September (Week 7), and will be approximately 45 minutes in duration.

Turnitin setting: This is not a Turnitin assignment

Assessment 4: Film Music History Test 2

Start date:

Details: Film Music History Test 2 will be marked and returned to students at the completion of the course.

Additional details:

• In-Class Test 2, 15%

This test will be based on material taken from Readings, Lectures, and Tutorials held during Weeks 7 to 12.
The test will be conducted in the normal tutorial time at 3pm on Thursday 21 October (Week 13), and will be approximately 45 minutes in duration.

Turnitin setting: This is not a Turnitin assignment
Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au. Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course’s Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Late Assessment Penalties

Students are responsible for the submission of assessment tasks by the required dates and times. Depending of the extent of delay in the submission of an assessment task past the due date and time, one of the following late penalties will apply unless special consideration or a blanket extension due to a technical outage is granted. For the purpose of late penalty calculation, a ‘day’ is deemed to be each 24-hour period (or part thereof) past the stipulated deadline for submission.

- Work submitted less than 10 days after the stipulated deadline is subject to a deduction of 5% of the total awardable mark from the mark that would have been achieved if not for the penalty for every day past the stipulated deadline for submission. That is, a student who submits an assignment with a stipulated deadline of 4:00pm on 13 May 2016 at 4:10pm on 14 May 2016 will incur a deduction of 10%.

  Task with a non-percentage mark

  If the task is marked out of 25, then late submission will attract a penalty of a deduction of 1.25 from the mark awarded to the student for every 24-hour period (or part thereof) past the stipulated deadline.

  Example: A student submits an essay 48 hours and 10 minutes after the stipulated deadline. The total possible mark for the essay is 25. The essay receives a mark of 17. The student’s mark is therefore 17 – [25 (0.05 x 3)] = 13.25

  Task with a percentage mark

  If the task is marked out of 100%, then late submission will attract a penalty of a deduction of 5% from the mark awarded to the student for every 24-hour period (or part thereof) past the stipulated deadline.

  Example: A student submits an essay 48 hours and 10 minutes after the stipulated deadline. The essay is marked out of 100%. The essay receives a mark of 68. The student’s mark is therefore 68 – 15 = 53
• Work submitted 10 to 19 days after the stipulated deadline will be assessed and feedback provided but a mark of zero will be recorded. If the work would have received a pass mark but for the lateness and the work is a compulsory course component (hurdle requirement), a student will be deemed to have met that requirement;

• Work submitted 20 or more days after the stipulated deadline will not be accepted for assessment and will receive no feedback, mark or grade. If the assessment task is a compulsory component of the course a student will receive an Unsatisfactory Fail (UF) grade as a result of unsatisfactory performance in an essential component of the course.

This information is also available at:

https://www.arts.unsw.edu.au/current-students/academic-information/protocols-guidelines/

Special Consideration Applications

You can apply for special consideration when illness or other circumstances interfere with your assessment performance.

Sickness, misadventure or other circumstances beyond your control may:

- Prevent you from completing a course requirement,
- Keep you from attending an assessable activity,
- Stop you submitting assessable work for a course,
- Significantly affect your performance in assessable work, be it a formal end-of-semester examination, a class test, a laboratory test, a seminar presentation or any other form of assessment.

For further details in relation to Special Consideration including "When to Apply", "How to Apply" and "Supporting Documentation" please refer to the Special Consideration website:

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another’s ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
• understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
• be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
• be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
• locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.

Course Evaluation and Development

Student feedback on this course is gathered periodically and is always carefully considered with a view to acting on it constructively wherever possible. Feedback is gathered by various means including the formal UNSW MyExperience Surveys.

In light of previous feedback from students in this course, more emphasis has been placed on allowing students to express their creativity and provide an example of music score for a short segment of film for assessment purposes in order to further consolidate the student’s understanding of the overall course concepts.
