Summary of the Course

The course will be conducted as 4-hour seminars during which you will develop digital journalism projects for potential publication or broadcast, collaboratively sub-edit/review classmates' content, design webpages for the delivery of content, and, in cases where work has been published, manage and monitor its uptake on social media. Each seminar will essentially be a digital journalism "clinic". Teaching will primarily take the form of (1) a continuous process of sub-editorial-style feedback/guidance by the tutor (an industry professional) in the role of editor and (2) the collaborative reviewing by students of each other's work. This approach is designed to develop towards work-readiness the basic digital journalism skills students have acquired through previous core courses. It will provide you with the opportunity to apply these skills in a "real world" setting, where they will be mentored by an industry professional.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Formulate digital journalism story ideas and evaluate their "newsworthiness/publishability", given particular topic areas and intended audiences.
2. Plan, research, create, edit and layout publishable multi-media digital journalism.
3. Work collaboratively, ethically and in accordance with media law to create, edit, publish and publicise digital journalism.
4. Publicise digital journalism on social media platforms, use data analytics to track hits on published material, manage reader comments and manage search engine optimisation of a publication site.

Teaching Strategies

The course will be conducted as 3-hour seminars during which students will develop digital journalism projects for potential publication, collaboratively sub-edit/review classmates' content, design webpages for the delivery of content, and, in cases where work has been published, manage and monitor its uptake on social media.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another’s ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
- understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
- be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
- be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
- locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
