Summary of the Course

This course explores the history and contemporary nature and extent of media power, with a particular focus on media industries and institutions – on media as a business. The media’s influence within social, cultural, economic and political contexts will be examined. We will explore various facets and aspects of media power in relationship to changing techno-social contexts; we will examine how media industries are coming to terms with new media technologies and associated new modes of sociality and communication. Students are asked to develop a critical perspective on issues, together with an understanding of the ways in which contemporary media has come to wield significant power in society and culture.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Display an in-depth understanding of a range of key debates and issues relating to media power
2. Demonstrate the ability to critically investigate formations and institutions of media power in relation to wider historical, social, political, economic and cultural processes and contexts
3. Show skills in critical analysis and the rigorous application of theoretical concepts to investigate everyday issues and debates relating to media power
4. Display an appreciation of the continuing importance of critically engaging with the contemporary state of media power
5. Demonstrate an ability to think independently, critically and creatively about media power

Teaching Strategies

Teaching and Learning Rationale

This is a level 3 course. It builds on skills developed in levels 1 and 2 courses. It will allow students to develop skills in higher order analysis and self-directed learning. Both lectures and tutorials will be open to dialogue with the aim of exploring the readings and related questions in a collaborative and rigorous way.

This course is NOT about rote learning, but rather involves actively thinking about and engaging with a number of key issues, developments, concepts, perspectives, and debates. Students are expected to take control of their own learning, rather than passively expect information to be delivered to them.

Teaching Strategies

All students are expected to come each week to both lectures and tutorials well prepared with notes on the readings and any ideas or issues they want to pursue. The readings are intended to be thought provoking and you will need to devote at least 2-3 hrs per week to preparation. If you do not keep up with the readings you will find it very difficult to pass the course. The course is aimed at building productive and lively communities of inquiry in both lectures and tutorials.

The course will have a UNSW Moodle site, where you can find lecture notes and a range of other basic course resources.
Assessment

Students are required to show active learning strategies in approaching the criteria of the assessment. To support learners in this independent critical process, resources will be made available on Moodle for students to explore. These resources will canvas the correct use of the Harvard Referencing system; how to write effective and critically nuanced essays; strategies for making five minute presentations; and forums for discussing key questions regarding the subject/assessments. In the lead up to assessments, significant tutorial time will be spent on developing critically informed essays.

Please Note: All marks are provisional until they have been formally confirmed by the Faculty Academic Quality Committee at the conclusion of each term. Marks may be subject to change for various reasons including the application of late penalties, moderation and the application of academic misconduct penalties.

Assessments must be successfully submitted by the specified due date and time, or it will be deemed late, and a penalty applied. It is the responsibility of each individual student to ensure that any work is successfully submitted by the deadline, and in its correct format/version Please be aware that ALL assessment tasks are required course components (hurdle components). You MUST attempt each task in order to pass the course. Failure to complete any of these tasks will result in a failure of the entire course, even if your results in the other two tasks might add up to a numerical passing grade.

Assessment Details

Assessment 1: Short Essay

Details:

1,000 to 1,200 words.

This is the first assignment. Feedback will be provided via LMS.

Additional details:

Essay: It may not be farfetched to remark that today, the media is the key driver for the economy, society, culture, politics. Critically discuss ONE political economy of the media approach to studying media, and how it enables a stronger understanding of contemporary socio-economic power structures. For further information on this first assessment and the various political economy of the media approaches, please refer to Moodle.
Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Assessment 2: Public Communication

Start date: Not Applicable

Details:

This is an individual assessment. You will be tasked to deliver TWO insightful, engaging, and clearly argued talks, EACH relating to a particular topic and of 5-minute duration, during tutorial time, in TWO separate weeks, as allocated by your tutor. Feedback will be provided via LMS.

Additional details:

In Week One tutorials we will determine the trimester schedule for everyone's two pitches (which will begin from week two onwards). Please see Moodle for further information on this assessment.

Assessment 3: Research Essay

Start date: Not Applicable

Details:

2,000 to 2,500 words. This is the final assignment. Make productive use of the materials and topics from the course as a whole, to creatively reflect upon and analyse SPECIFIC examples/elements of contemporary media power. As part of this assignment, you are required to design an effective and viable research topic/question. You will have the opportunity to seek feedback on your topic/question in the tutorials before submission. Feedback on your Research Essay will be provided via LMS.

Additional details:

Please see Moodle for further information on this assessment.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.
Resources

Prescribed Resources

All resources will be made available via Moodle.

Please Note:

It is very important to carefully double check your tutorial enrollment information before beginning in week one. Note your tute code (i.e. H11A, F11A etc.) and make sure the location matches your expectation for being online or face-to-face. If you are online, location will be marked as 'Online.' If you are attending face-to-face, location will be marked as a campus room code on UNSW (i.e. Red Centre West 4034, K-H13-4034).

If you discover that your tutorial is in a teaching mode that is different to what you expected (i.e. you find out you are enrolled in a face-to-face class when you thought you were going to be online) then please contact the convenor as soon as possible for instructions on how to request a change to your class.

Software/platforms for tutorials and lectures:

Lectures will be held via Blackboard Collaborate, within the Moodle subject page.

Online tutorials will use Microsoft Teams for their videoconferencing and collaborative note taking.

Face to face tutorials will use Microsoft Teams as a brainstorming/note taking resource while learning in the UNSW classroom environment.

Recommended Resources

Bonus research support material will be made available via Moodle.

Course Evaluation and Development

Regular student feedback is encouraged via a feedback forum on Moodle, and the teaching team will regularly discuss how students are experiencing the subject as the trimester unfolds.
Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au. Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course’s Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another’s ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
• understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
• be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
• be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
• locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
