SUMMARY OF COURSE

This course is designed to deepen your understanding of leadership and educational change and to provide you with the theoretical and conceptual tools necessary to analyse, evaluate, problematise and reconstruct current leadership and educational change practices. At the conclusion of this course you should be able to:

- Describe educational leadership and educational change processes
- Analyse educational leadership and educational change processes
- Apply an understanding of leadership and educational change to the resolution of issues in leading educational change.

THE MAIN WAYS IN WHICH THE COURSE HAS CHANGED SINCE LAST TIME AS A RESULT OF STUDENT FEEDBACK:

Based on the very positive feedback of previous participants, the course remains largely unchanged from the last time it was offered. However:

- at the request of students, an additional online peer review activity has been included prior to the final submission dates for the Case Analysis, and
- in response to the social distancing requirements of COVID-19 the outdoors Team Working Activity has been replaced with an online Team Working Activity.

4. RATIONALE FOR THE INCLUSION OF CONTENT AND TEACHING APPROACH

Continuing to develop the quality of learning and teaching is a central responsibility of all educators whether they be in formal positions of management responsibility or not. How to analyse, evaluate and develop one’s capability as a leader of educational change is, therefore, a critical capability of all educators.

The teaching approach, which includes independent as well as group-based learning activities, is designed to mirror the solitary and collective nature of educational leadership, providing participants with opportunities to work independently and together in the process of analysing and evaluating practice; identifying issues that need to be addressed; and formulating and evaluating strategies to effect the changes necessary to address these issues.

5. TEACHING STRATEGIES

The course is taught in a fully online mode designed to maximise the benefits of both synchronous and asynchronous learning activities. The approach to teaching and learning is informed by research that has demonstrated the importance of the learning environment to quality student learning. Emphasis is placed on a learning environment that is Student-centred, Knowledge-centred, Assessment-centred, and Community-centred.

Thus, as a student in this course you:

- will learn in an environment that is respectful of diversity and draws upon the prior knowledge, skills and experience of each participant
- will be provided with clear guidelines and standards detailing what you are expected to do to facilitate your learning prior to, during, and after each on-line session
- will be provided with access to seminal, contemporary and cutting-edge content through a variety of different means
- will be challenged by and supported to engage in learning activities and assessment tasks that are situated and authentic requiring you to grapple with new concepts and ideas and apply these to the analysis of practice and the resolution of problems in leading educational change in your own or another’s workplace.
- will be engaged in online learning activities and assessment tasks that require you to work independently and collaboratively to interpret learning activities/tasks; to plan and implement strategies to address these activities/tasks; and to communicate the outcomes of these learning activities/tasks to others.

In summary, the learning activities and assessment tasks associated with this course will involve you in:

- reading and research (information gathering, analysis, evaluation, and management)
- on-line synchronous and asynchronous group-work and discussion
- the preparation of two written papers – a Case Description and a Case Analysis; and
- a presentation based upon your Case Description and Analysis.

Assessment Details

- Assessment Task 1 - Preparation of a Case Description
  This task requires you to prepare a rich description of an attempt to lead educational change in a particular context. This description should provide all the necessary data to support a detailed analysis of the effectiveness of the change and the leadership exercised in attempting to bring the change about.

- Assessment Task 2 - Preparation of a Case Analysis
  This task requires you to utilise the various theoretical and conceptual frameworks discussed in the course to analyse and evaluate the effectiveness of the leadership and educational change process described in the Case Description that you prepared in response to Assessment Task 1.

- Assessment Task 3 – Video Presentation of Case Description and Analysis
  This task requires you to make a 10 minute video presentation to the class that provides details of your case, a summary of your analysis of the case, and your suggestions for how the change described in the case might have been more effectively led or implemented based on your learning throughout this course.

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Students are required to follow their lecturer’s instructions when submitting their work for assessment.

Assessment Tasks 1 and 2 will be submitted in the form of a ".doc" or ".docx" file online via Turnitin in the Course’s Moodle Site by 5pm on the day the assignments are due.
