Summary of the Course

Greek myths have had a profound influence on our culture. Because they comment on the enduring aspects of the human condition, they continue to be a major source of inspiration for contemporary philosophers, visual artists, writers and filmmakers. An understanding of this influence greatly enhances our appreciation of modern culture. In this course, you will be introduced to the creation myths, to the stories of the gods and their interaction with humans, and to the great mythical cycles – Oedipus, the Trojan War, Orpheus. The myths are discussed in relation to modern works incorporating new versions of the stories. You will also study ‘The Odyssey’, a monumental piece of literature with interesting historical references and an ongoing influence on western culture.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Describe the social and intellectual context of ancient Greek culture as reflected through the Greek myths and the Odyssey.
2. Explain the central themes in Greek myth.
3. Analyse the lasting significance of Greek mythology in art, literature, music and film.
4. Critically reflect on universal and timeless themes through the lens of Greek myth.

Teaching Strategies

Lectures, tutorial discussions, video presentations and readings will take you through the fascinating world of Greek mythology and Ancient Greek society and culture. You will be introduced to the nature and the creation of myths. You will be familiarised with the stories of the gods and their interaction with humans, as well as with some of the great mythical cycles, like Oedipus, the Trojan War and Orpheus. You will also study Homer's Odyssey, one of the earliest and greatest examples of literature inspired by myth, whose influence in every artistic expression is constantly felt up to this day. All tutorials will be conducted by an experienced team of tutors, who will attempt to engage you in discussions, taking your interests and disciplinary background into consideration.

The lectures provide the basic material required for the assessments and the tutorials. You will be expected to have read Homer's Odyssey in Wilson's translation prior to the start of classes. In addition, you will be required to read further so as to obtain a deeper understanding and formulate a critical approach to the topics and themes covered in the lecture. All classes are through face-to-face mode. For the tutorials, you will also be required to study the set written and visual texts prescribed in the Course Reader, which is available via Moodle. Each text comes with a series of questions, which provides the framework for the tutorial discussion. The classroom discussion fulfils an important component of the above University Graduate Attributes, and it should be stimulating and rewarding for your intellectual development. The assessments will allow you to consolidate the ideas and concepts that you have learnt, and also help you develop your independent, critical and reflective thinking.
Assessment

All general assessment information will be uploaded on Moodle under 'Assessment'.

Resources

Prescribed Resources

For PART 1 and 2 of the course: The assigned tutorial activities must be completed BEFORE the following lecture e.g. Tutorial 1 must be completed before Lecture 2.

Also for PART 2 of the course it is imperative that you will have read prior to the start of the classes Homer’s Odyssey. The selected version of the Odyssey for this course is The Odyssey translated by Emily Wilson (W.W. Norton, 2017). Wilson's translation is regrettably NOT available online via UNSW Library (there is still no institutional access to the ebook by the publisher). You can either borrow a printed copy from UNSW library or purchase your own copy (either print or ebook).

Recommended Resources

• Additional Readings

(An updated version of this list, comprised exclusively of electronic resources, will be available on Moodle)

Campbell, Joseph. The Hero with a Thousand Faces (any edition). (e.g. London: Fontana, S291.13/70)

• Reference works

Below are some suggested Reference Works, all available at UNSW Library both as print and ebook:

• Websites

There is a wealth of information on the web on Greek Mythology, not all of which are equally valuable and some might even include misleading and inaccurate information. Speak with your tutor if unsure whether a particular database can be used for researching your assignment.

The four most recommended web links, ranked in terms of importance, immediately follow:

PERSEUS Project (Tufts University). The most extensive collection of primary source materials online. Features: hypertext-annotated and searchable text both in the original and in English translation, Greek-English dictionaries, encyclopedias and other reference material. Of particular note is an excellent overview of Greek history from the Bronze Age to the Hellenistic era.

Greek Mythology Link (Carlos Parada): a full encyclopedia of Greek myth. Features: geographical reference guide, a dictionary, a search engine, index and bibliography.

URL: http://www.maicar.com/GML/

Theoi Project: an online reference tool. Features: a searchable Greek Gods family tree, a bestiary, links to other related websites.

Greek Mythology (J. M. Hunt): A basic introduction to Ancient Greek mythology.

Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course’s Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another’s ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
• understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
• be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of
  UNSW ICT Resources Policy
• be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
• locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
