Summary of the Course

This course provides advanced tuition in Chinese language (Mandarin) study, using a textbook designed specifically for advanced Chinese learners at universities outside of China. It combines language studies with an exploration of Chinese culture and society, including traditional culture. The medium of instruction is Mandarin. You continue to develop and extend your understanding and use of Chinese language, especially more specialized vocabulary and complex sentence structures. The emphasis is on the transformation of linguistic knowledge into active skills through oral and written activities, focusing on authentic Chinese texts by utilising various reading strategies. The choice of text and related materials are based on two criteria: 1) They should serve as a sample of best language for students to learn and imitate, and 2) The contents of each text should have a strong relevance with current Chinese society and cultural tradition. The texts cover a wide range of topics in Chinese language, culture and society, including a speech by most renowned writer, and the Nobel prize winner for literature, Mr. Mo Yan. These carefully chosen texts will serve as a window through which you will see China at work, feeling its qi and greatness while are also aware of its challenges and problems.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Demonstrate fluency and confidence in the use of the language, including translation
2. Analyse and comment on sophisticated texts with an awareness of subtlety and nuance of meaning
3. Identify a wide range of language styles and registers, and apply them in communication in various social contexts
4. Demonstrate a cultural and literary awareness in relation to contemporary China, and ancient Chinese civilization
5. Investigate and report on issues related to linguistic or socio-cultural aspects of the Chinese speaking world both orally and in writing.

Teaching Strategies

In designing this course, we take into account the increasing cultural and linguistic diversity, and the multiplicity of communication modes brought about by globalization and technological advances. We believe that these factors have great impact on social behavior and literate practices, and need to be addressed, if we want to come to grips with the ever-changing world, and make our teaching relevant and useful for our students. So in this course there is an emphasis on the transformation of students' linguistic knowledge to active communicative skills, and language study is complemented by cultural explorations. We also take into consideration that students enrolled in this course are from demographically and linguistically diverse backgrounds, and try to accommodate this in our teaching.

The course consists of lectures and tutorials. The lectures serve as introduction to the content of each chapter, as well as relevant cultural aspects, including basic knowledge of Classical Chinese language. The tutorials are devoted to the textbook, and a wide range of interactive activities. The four language skills – listening, speaking, reading and writing - are integrated, and multi-media approach adopted throughout the course to enrich students' learning experiences.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another’s ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
• understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
• be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of
  UNSW ICT Resources Policy
• be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
• locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
