Summary of the Course

The Arts & Social Sciences Capstone is a multi-disciplinary course that provides you with an opportunity to reflect on your disciplinary studies over the previous three levels of study. In particular, the course will consider classics in the literature of liberal education to ask to what extent your study has lived up to the various conceptions and ideals of a university education. You have a chance to think about your own discipline in conversation with students from other disciplines, while developing your own awareness of the disciplinary knowledge and understanding you have acquired.

The course is aimed at assisting you with the transition from your current degree to your role in the world as citizens in employment or further education.

Note: The course will be made available for Summer session providing more flexibility for students meeting this requirement of their program/major. For students for whom summer is not your last session of enrolment, you must obtain approval from your major convenor to enrol in the capstone provided you have completed the necessary courses in your major. Enrolment in the capstone requires faculty approval. Please contact the Faculty Student Centre.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Articulate an understanding of the theoretical and methodological principles of their discipline
2. Demonstrate comprehension of ethical and social responsibilities in the practice of their discipline
3. Articulate the ways in which their disciplinary training could be used in further study or the world of work
4. Critically evaluate and reflect on key arguments and debates in the humanities and social sciences.

Teaching Strategies

The Arts & Social Sciences Capstone provides students with the opportunity to reflect on their disciplinary studies over the previous three levels of study. As well as demonstrating their understanding of the major theoretical and methodological principles within their discipline, students will consider the ethical and social responsibilities associated with their area of study and will look to the future to understand how their studies have prepared them for a career or further study.

The course will be student-centred and seminar driven. The major assessment task will be a research essay which will allow students to demonstrate their achievement of the Graduate Attributes for their area of study. A journal portfolio will be kept through the course which will allow students to reflect on their learning over the three levels of their major.

The course will involve seminar-style interactive discussion based on the ideas and stimulus of weekly readings. Participants will be required to make two presentations, leading discussion by giving a critical analysis and overview of key ideas in the readings as these bear on their own discipline and views. Critical, analytical thinking will also be developed through an extended, critical academic essay on a topic to be chosen in consultation with the lecturer.
Assessment

Suggested essay topics will be provided on Moodle, but please feel free to get in touch with me should you want to tweak them or develop your own.

Any conventional academic referencing system is acceptable, so long as you apply it consistently and correctly.

Assessment 2: Seminar presentation write-up

Start date: 13/01/2020 12:00 AM

Length: 700 words

Details: 700 words. Class presentations will be assigned throughout the semester. Following the presentation, students submit a critical summary and reflection on the assigned and class discussion.
Feedback via individual comments.

Additional details:

This assessment has two parts. In our first class, we will assign presenters to discuss the set readings. Each presentation should be brief, around five to ten minutes, and presenters should talk about their own engagement with the reading/topic. The idea is use your own pathway through the material to open up discussion not only of the content, but also of its wider utility. This might mean making connections with the ideas in the text and your own disciplinary background; using the material to illuminate a contemporary issue; as a means of exploring how scholars in particular disciplines develop arguments; or a critical analysis that offers alternate ways of thinking about the ideas within.

Please do not simply summarise the reading and do remember to give your discussion a bit of structure: the more you help your audience to follow your train of thought, the easier it will be to generate discussion.

Within 48 hours of giving your presentation you are required to submit a c.700 word critical summary on the reading you spoke on, reflecting on the content as well as the class discussion. You might want to think about what new insights the discussion raised, whether we missed something important in class, or if our discussion prompted you to revise your thinking on the topic. While this is not a formal essay, do write in full paragraphs and, where necessary, include references.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Articles for critical analysis and the essay question will be made available on Moodle as soon as the course commences.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Assessment 4: Reflective assignment

Start date: Not Applicable

Length: 800 words

Details: 800 words. Students must articulate the ways in which their disciplinary training could be used in further study or the world of work.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another’s ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
• understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
• be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
• be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
• locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
