Summary of the Course

Subject Area: Social Work

This course introduces you to the scope and parameters of the social work profession. It provides an overview and rationale for the BSW(Hons) curriculum by presenting on key areas of social work knowledge and practice, including the diversity contexts of social work intervention, the range of theory and knowledge that informs social work practice, and the code of ethics that guides professional intervention. A variety of case studies, social work practice scenarios and practitioner perspectives will be used to illustrate this material. Applied social work field examples will also be used to examine the links between conceptual knowledge and practical application. A range of relevant agencies will be profiled and studied in this course.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Explain social work theory and values
2. Outline the diverse range of fields and contexts within which social work intervention may occur
3. Apply knowledge of social work theory and values to a range of social work fields, contexts, methods, and interventions
4. Examine the role of social work theory and values in social work practice

Teaching Strategies

Rationale

This course is included to enable students to develop a knowledge base and skills in critical analysis that can be applied to key areas of concern. This will lay a solid foundation for the development of further social work knowledge and practice skill development. This reflects our position that practice within the Social Work field will require students to be equipped with both knowledge of the sector as well as a critical framework to use in understanding the needs of clients groups, the influence of context on defining their needs and, in the light of that, the roles that social workers might play as a result of this.

Teaching Strategies

The teaching is focused around a number of case studies which will be used to explore the range of associated Social Work issues that arise at individual, family, community and societal levels. The case examples will ensure the consideration of ethical dilemmas, and the range of possible social work service responses. The three key issues of diversity, mental health and child wellbeing/protection will be the focus of learning. Specific populations of Forgotten Australians, the Stolen Generation and Asylum Seekers will be used to illustrate these key area areas.

One basic assumption we make in this course is that all students bring background knowledge and life experience to classes, and that it is that knowledge and experience that is already possessed which is the most important ingredient in learning in Introduction to Social Work. Our method of teaching requires active participation in student's own learning, and an active use of what is already known.

The lectures will involve discussion of the theoretical information being studied as well as presentations that are directly related to the practice situations being studied. Some presentations will consist of people who have first-hand practice experience, and this is a valuable opportunity for students to ask their own questions and have general class discussion.

In accordance with UNSW Learning and Teaching Guidelines this course intends to engage students in learning by providing opportunities to engage in the social work context via a visit to an agency of their choice. Students are encouraged to discuss their experiences of Practicum/Volunteer and employed positions in relation to social work/welfare case study scenarios presented throughout the course.
Assessment

Weeks 1-4 of lectures and tutorials will cover content that is directly relevant to completion of Assessment 1, while weeks 5-10 of lectures and tutorials will cover content that is directly relevant to completion of Assessment 2.

This is why attendance is important and active participation and communication with your lecturer and tutors is essential.

General feedback on assessment completion will be provided in Week 6 of Term and detailed feedback will be provided on your manuscripts. Please ensure you read all comments and seek help early if you need it. We are here to encourage and support your development as active and reflexive learners.

Assessment Details

Assessment 1: Critical Exercise on topics relevant to the course

Start date: Not Applicable

Length: 1500 words, not including references

Details:

A 1500-word assignment on topics relevant to the course.

Students are given written feedback within two weeks of submission.

Additional details:

In this assignment you are required to submit four short statements that summarise your current understanding of key elements of learning in your journey to becoming a social worker.

1. Discuss two different definitions of social work provided in this course and explain how they enhance your understanding of social work as a profession, citing the sources of the definitions and any other information you draw upon (400 words).
2. Select and describe ONE theory for social work, outlining the key concepts, main theorists, how it is used in social work, and evidence that explains or support the theory (Refer to Chenowith and McAuliffe, 2019, Chapter 5, and at least one other source). (400 words).
3. Read Walter & Baltra-Ulloa (2019), Chapter 4 in Our Voices. Referring to this text and others as needed, outline the impacts and implications of colonisation in Australia and discuss the concepts of whiteness, white fragility and decolonisation of social work. Explain why the profession needs to re-think social work in Australia. (400 words).

4. State the organisation you will research this term. Describe the organisation briefly, outlining the purpose and main services provided by the organisation, and the field and context of practice, citing the sources of all information (300 words).

Submission notes: Please follow the School referencing guide, consult the rubric, answer all questions asked and format your assignment appropriately.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.

Assessment 2: Analysis of Context and Practice relevant to the course

Start date: Not Applicable

Length: 2500 words, not including references

Details:

A 2500-word assignment on a topic relevant to course material.

Students are given written feedback within two weeks of submission.

Additional details:

Students select one Australian agency to research in order to describe and analyse social work as a profession (which may provide individual counselling or case work, group work, family work, or work with communities and society more broadly). They identify and explain the focus population, field and context of practice, theoretical and ethical aspects of practice and apply the knowledge from this course by critically reflecting on a key ‘text’ that contextualises their learning throughout the course. Written feedback and a numerical mark are provided two weeks after the submission due date. The key ‘text’ should be a podcast, recording or interview with a social worker describing and discussing their work in a human services organisation.

1. Select a Australian human services organisation to research.
2. Read the organisation’s website and most recent annual report as well as peer reviewed literature about the field or context of practice.
3. Next, listen to a podcast, watch a videoclip or meet with a social worker describing and discussing their work in the organisation you are researching, or a very similar one.
4. Provide a ‘contextualised analysis of practice’ by answering the questions below:
   1. State the name of the organisation.
   2. Discuss the field of practice in which the organisation functions (300 words).
   3. Using an intersectional lens, describe the population with whom the organisation works closely. What are their needs and issues and what produces these needs and issues? (300 words).
   4. Discuss a theory that informs social work practice in this organisation (300 words).
   5. Describe a method of social work practice utilised in the organisation (300 words).
6. Discuss three key skills social workers will utilise in this organisation (300 words).
7. Describe a law that is relevant to the work of the organisation (300 words).
8. Describe how this organisation addresses at least one of the core values of the social work profession (500 words).
9. Explain why you chose this organisation to research (200 words).

You will be given time in class to work in small groups on specific aspects of this assessment each week and your tutor will oversee this work, to ensure you are able to investigate and show critical reflection in your analysis of the organisation, including identifying the nature of their governance and funding arrangements and the limitations and strengths of the organization, and the role of social work, including the resources available and the way their work reflects the values and standards of the profession.

To complete this assignment, you should spend time researching the organization in depth.

- Visit the organization if possible – but remember they will be very busy and please always present yourself professionally!
- Explore the organisation's/agency's website
- Read a few of the organisation's/agency's annual reports
- Collect literature that the organisation gives to clients which may answer some of your questions
- Explore multimedia that the organisation provides which may answer some of your questions
- Think critically about the adequacy of the written information and how it could be differently presented

Submission notes: Please follow School referencing guidelines, answer all questions asked, and format appropriately.

Turnitin setting: This assignment is submitted through Turnitin and students can see Turnitin similarity reports.
Attendance Requirements

The School of Social Sciences expects that students will attend and participate actively in 100% of learning and teaching activities. Mandatory attendance of classes for this course is part of the accreditation requirements for the BSW (Hons) program. The course is designed to provide essential learning in each lecture and tutorial, this means you must listen to all 10 lectures and attend all 10 tutorials. If you are unable to attend a class, you must email your course tutor and the course convenor at your earliest convenience. If you attend less than 80% of classes, you may be refused final assessment. This means that if you do not attend at least 80% of possible classes your final assignment or exam may receive a mark of zero. You are responsible for keeping track of your attendance and contacting your course convenor (Maree Higgins) immediately if you are concerned about your attendance record and its impact on your ability to complete your course successfully. For the purpose of attendance monitoring, the final assessment for this course is the Substantive Assignment worth 60% of your overall grade for this course. This is the assessment item that will be graded at zero if you do not meet the attendance requirement.

Recommended Resources

A range of relevant resources will be available via the Course Moodle Site, including relevant social work texts, journal article links and appropriate podcasts that focus on social work practice

Course Evaluation and Development

Student feedback is welcome throughout the term. Students may email or phone their tutor and lecturer, and book a time to see the course convenor throughout the working week. In addition, students are also encouraged to complete the MyExperience link when available.

Previous student feedback has been utilised to:

- redevelop course materials and online content;
- change the textbook;
- redevelop assessment tasks (we have reduced the number of assessment pieces and changed Assessments 1 and 2 to highlight the unique knowledge, skills and values of the profession taught in this course);
- introduce theories for social work earlier in the term, explain them better, and link them to the case studies used in class.
Submission of Assessment Tasks

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au. Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally, assessment tasks must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible, it will be stated on your course’s Moodle site with alternative submission details.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another’s ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another’s ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person’s individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person’s academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person’s work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

- Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management
- Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre (http://www.lc.unsw.edu.au/). Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

UNSW Library also has the ELISE tool available to assist you with your study at UNSW. ELISE is designed to introduce new students to studying at UNSW but it can also be a great refresher during your study.

Completing the ELISE tutorial and quiz will enable you to:

- analyse topics, plan responses and organise research for academic writing and other assessment tasks
- effectively and efficiently find appropriate information sources and evaluate relevance to your needs
- use and manage information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose
- better manage your time
• understand your rights and responsibilities as a student at UNSW
• be aware of plagiarism, copyright, UNSW Student Code of Conduct and Acceptable Use of UNSW ICT Resources Policy
• be aware of the standards of behaviour expected of everyone in the UNSW community
• locate services and information about UNSW and UNSW Library

Some of these areas will be familiar to you, others will be new. Gaining a solid understanding of all the related aspects of ELISE will help you make the most of your studies at UNSW.
