This year marks the 25th anniversary of the Social Policy Research Centre. In line with this event, the overarching theme for the 2005 conference is Looking Back, Looking Forward: a Quarter Century of Social Change.

The end of the long economic boom in the mid-1970s led to the realisation that new social policies were needed to cope with the new economic and social environment. The establishment of the SPRC (initially known as the Social Welfare Research Centre) in 1980 was one response to this. Twenty-five years later, economic growth has returned, but inequality continues to grow and social change continues to be rapid. Like the Red Queen in Through the Looking Glass, social policy makers must keep running to keep up with and adapt to new circumstances and needs.

For this conference, presenters are being encouraged to examine social and policy changes past, present and future.

ABOUT THE SOCIAL POLICY RESEARCH CENTRE

The Social Policy Research Centre is a research centre of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences at the University of New South Wales.
