Credit Points

This is a 6 unit-of-credit (UoC) course, and involves three hours per week (h/w) of face-to-face contact.

The UNSW website states “The normal workload expectations of a student are approximately 25 hours per semester for each UoC, including class contact hours, other learning activities, preparation and time spent on all assessable work. Thus, for a full-time enrolled student, the normal workload, averaged across the 16 weeks of teaching, study and examination periods, is about 37.5 hours per week.”

This means that you should aim to spend about 9 h/w on this course. The additional time should be spent in making sure that you understand the lecture material, completing the set assignments, further reading, and revising for any examinations.
Summary and Aims of the course

The purpose of this course is to provide an understanding of the theories and principles of modern management and encourage the course participants to have an appreciation of these principles in relation to their own experiences and selected managerial case studies.

The aims of the course are to understand the basic principles of management and the four major functions of managers - e.g. planning, organizing, leading and controlling - and how managers actually operate. Students will be required to think critically and strategically about management theories and issues, which will enable them to develop their decision-making and analytical skills. They will be involved in application exercises and case studies which will assist them to develop graduate attributes.

Student learning outcomes

This course is designed to address the below learning outcomes and the corresponding Engineers Australia Stage 1 Competency Standards for Professional Engineers as shown. The full list of Stage 1 Competency Standards may be found in Appendix A.

After successfully completing this course, you should be able to:

4. Teaching strategies

These will include lectures, problem solving sessions, group discussion of case studies and review questions, videos, and case studies presented by students. Students are expected to effectively participate in the class discussion and prior reading of the course material would be useful in this regard.

Two multiple choice tests will be held in the first half of the session in order to provide additional motivation for reading the book and to test the overall appreciation of the general concepts involved in the previous course material.

Group exercises will involve case application and video case application exercises in small groups. The number of people in a group should be three or four.

Students will be able to appreciate new issues and ideas confronting managers through the video clips that will be used in the course. They will also be able to appreciate how the principles learned relate to their own experience in work or in personal life. Issues involving ethics, sustainability, innovation and change, globalisation and workforce diversity will be extensively dealt with in the course to enable the students to understand these principles. Group discussion of case studies and class presentation will allow communication and interaction of ideas and allow the students to comprehend how the principles of management can be applied in solving organisational problems.

Assignments

Case study assignments will involve working in groups of 3-4 assigned on cases, submitting a short report and briefly presenting their findings at the end of demonstration sessions.

The Assignment (Wk 4) is a group assignment involving 3-4 people. Each group will be required to choose an organisation and conduct in-depth research into the management of the organisation and provide a presentation of their findings in Wk 12 and 13.

Case study assignments are due on the scheduled day of the class in the week nominated above. The Assignment is due in Wk 12 and to be handed in at the end of the lecture.

Presentation

All submissions are expected to be neat and clearly set out. Your results are the pinnacle of all your hard work and should be treated with due respect. Presenting results clearly gives the marker the best chance of understanding your method; even if the numerical results are incorrect.

Submission

Work submitted late without an approved extension by the course coordinator or delegated authority is subject to a late penalty of 20 per cent (20%) of the maximum mark possible for that assessment item, per calendar day.

The late penalty is applied per calendar day (including weekends and public holidays) that the assessment is overdue. There is no pro-rata of the late penalty for submissions made part way through a day.

Work submitted after the 'deadline for absolute fail' is not accepted and a mark of zero will be awarded for that assessment item.

For some assessment items, a late penalty may not be appropriate. These are clearly indicated in the course outline, and such assessments receive a mark of zero if not completed by the specified date. Examples include:

a. Weekly online tests or laboratory work worth a small proportion of the subject mark, or
b. Online quizzes where answers are released to students on completion, or
c. Professional assessment tasks, where the intention is to create an authentic assessment that has an absolute submission date, or
d. Pass/Fail assessment tasks.

Marking

The following are the criterion for assessment:

- In-depth research of an organisation by collecting information, analysing and interpreting the information.
- Critical evaluation of the issues and their possible solutions.
- Application of initiative and originality in interpreting facts and relating to the underlying concepts and conclusions.
- Skill in writing and presentation of the findings.

Marking guidelines for assignment submissions will also be provided at the same time as assignment details to assist with meeting assessable requirements. Submissions will be marked according to the marking guidelines provided.

Examinations

Both in-class tests will be multiple choice questions and will be used to test the knowledge and understanding of students in the course concept and methods.
There will be a two-hour examination at the end of the semester. The examination will consist of multiple choice questions as well as descriptive questions.

You must be available for all tests and examinations. Final examinations for each course are held during the University examination periods, which are June for Semester 1 and November for Semester 2.

Provisional Examination timetables are generally published on myUNSW in May for Semester 1 and September for Semester 2.

For further information on exams, please see the Exams section on the intranet.

Special consideration and supplementary assessment

For details of applying for special consideration and conditions for the award of supplementary assessment, see the information on UNSW’s Special Consideration page.

8. Course evaluation and development

Feedback on the course is gathered periodically using various means, including the UNSW myExperience process, informal discussion in the final class for the course, and the School’s Student/Staff meetings. Your feedback is taken seriously, and continual improvements are made to the course based, in part, on such feedback.

In this course, recent improvements resulting from previous year’s feedback include providing more recent case studies and video clips, in-depth analysis of the cases, and including descriptive questions along with multiple choice questions in the final exam. More efforts will be provided to engage the students further in the lecture/tutorial.

Please let me know your suggestions and comments throughout and even after the semester.

9. Academic honesty and plagiarism

UNSW has an ongoing commitment to fostering a culture of learning informed by academic integrity. All UNSW students have a responsibility to adhere to this principle of academic integrity. Plagiarism undermines academic integrity and is not tolerated at UNSW. Plagiarism at UNSW is defined as using the words or ideas of others and passing them off as your own.

Plagiarism is a type of intellectual theft. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement. UNSW has produced a website with a wealth of resources to support students to understand and avoid plagiarism:
The Learning Centre assists students with understanding academic integrity and how not to plagiarise. They also hold workshops and can help students one-on-one.

You are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and the proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment tasks.

If plagiarism is found in your work when you are in first year, your lecturer will offer you assistance to improve your academic skills. They may ask you to look at some online resources, attend the Learning Centre, or sometimes resubmit your work with the problem fixed. However more serious instances in first year, such as stealing another student’s work or paying someone to do your work, may be investigated under the Student Misconduct Procedures.

Repeated plagiarism (even in first year), plagiarism after first year, or serious instances, may also be investigated under the Student Misconduct Procedures. The penalties under the procedures can include a reduction in marks, failing a course or for the most serious matters (like plagiarism in an honours thesis) even suspension from the university. The Student Misconduct Procedures are available here:

Further information on School policy and procedures in the event of plagiarism is available on the intranet.

10. Administrative matters and links

All students are expected to read and be familiar with School guidelines and polices, available on the intranet. In particular, students should be familiar with the following:
